
THE TREATY OF PEACE BETWEEN ISRAEL AND JORDAN, 26 OCTOBER 1994
On 26 October 1994, after forty-six years of hostility, Israel and Jordan signed a Treaty of Peace at the Wadi Araba near Akaba, within sight of the Israeli border
Territory returned by Israel to Jordan
Areas leased back by Jordan to Israel
Border crossings by April 1995
LEBANON
Mediterranean Sea
Sea of Galilee
Mahanayim
Sheikh Hussein Bridge
SYRIA
River Jordan
WEST BANK
Damia Bridge
Amman
Jericho
Allenby Bridge
Jerusalem
Dead Sea
GAZA STRIP
JORDAN
SAUDI ARABIA
ISRAEL
KING HUSSEIN: "The end of a chapter of darkness and the opening of a book of light"
YITZHAK RABIN: "No longer are we a people living apart"
Zofar
In the peace treaty, Israel and Jordan agreed to "recognise and respect each other's sovereignty, territorial integrity and political independence". Articles in the treaty covered the international boundary, security, establishing of diplomatic and bi-lateral relations, the sharing of water resources, cultural and scientific exchanges, civil aviation, tourism, environment, freedom of navigation, combating crime and drugs, and "the free movement of nationals and vehicles of the other into and within its territory".
EGYPT
Article 9 : "Each party will provide freedom of access to places of religious and historical significance. In this regard, Israel respects the present special role of Jordan in Muslim holy shrines in Jerusalem"
Wadi Araba
Eilat
Akaba
0 miles 50
0 kilometres 70
© Martin Gilbert 1995