most MKs already have that.

Its just a matter of making a list of MKs that are missing it, their id, and the link to the wikipedia page. then an editor can add them to the site.

two suggestions to do that automatically:

1. a script will search in Google for the Hebrew name of the MK (from OKneset), and then get the first result which starts with "he.wikipedia.org/wiki/"
2. a script will match the two lists of MK names - that from OKneset and that from Wikipedia. For many (most?) the name is the same. For the others it's rather easy to find.
