About The London School of Jewish Studies

The London School of Jewish Studies (LSJS) is a world class centre of teaching and learning. We provide professional development for Jewish studies teachers through our Jewish Education degree programmes and our Jewish Studies teachers' conferences.

We provide innovative, accessible and intellectually rigorous lifelong learning opportunities within our campus and around the community.

More than 160 years after it first opened, LSJS continues to grow and to cater to the evolving educational needs of the UK Jewish community as a thriving hub of Jewish educational excellence.

Our Campus

London School of Jewish Studies
Schaller House
Wohl Campus for Jewish Education
44a Albert Road

Accessibility

The Wohl Campus is all on one level and is suitable for anyone with mobility difficulties. The building is fully wheelchair accessible and includes disabled facilities. The campus is accessible by both car and public transport, with some parking available on site.

If you have a disability and you would like to receive information in an alternative format, please contact Suzanne Wayland Suzanne.wayland@lsjs.ac.uk

We make all our qualifications as accessible as possible and have a comprehensive range of services to support all our students

LSJS Library

The Marc Weinberg Community Library

Combining the best of the old and the new, the Marc Weinberg Library is one of British Jewry's most significant resources. The library holds the historic Jews' College Collection, which contains over 70,000 volumes of Judaica and Hebraica.

The LSJS library has been described by the Jewish Year Book as, "one of the most extensive Judaica libraries in Europe." Home to over 70,000 volumes, it has been growing for the past 150 years so it is little wonder people come to LSJS to search for books.

The facility is a modern open library, suitable for both personal and academic study, with free wi-fi facilities and an online catalogue. The library provides a warm and inviting location for people to browse, borrow and buy books. It is a comfortable place for research and study.

It also contains a new 'Discovery Studio', which is used for special child-focused educational activities, including 'The Children's Pop-Up Library' and immersive learning programmes.

Key facilities:

- Free WiFi
- A book store selling new and second hand books
- A children's corner
- Access to the archives
- The Studio – a dynamic space that will enable children's programming and other special events.
- Online catalogue

Social Spaces

On campus

LSJS has two coffee lounges available for students, which provides hot and cold beverages free of charge.

The coffee lounges are a social space for students that can be accessed whenever the campus is open.

There is a coffee lunge available in each building on campus.

Off Campus

For food and drink off campus, you may wish to visit the shops, cafes and restaurants on Bell Lane, where there is a wide variety of choice from both Kosher and non-Kosher places.

Nearby; Hendon Park is a beautiful 12 hectare tranquil green space which has a Kosher café on site. Queens Road (Hendon Central Station) has a wide range of coffee shops and takeaways where you can grab a quick bite to eat.

If you wish to travel a little further afield, Brent Cross Shopping centre has a great variety of informal places, as well as many restaurants; both recognised restaurant chains and independent gems.

Support services at LSJS

LSJS Administrative Office

The LSJS Administrative Office is the first port of call for student support and information. Mrs Suzanne Wayland is available during office hours and can be contacted at suzanne.wayland@lsjs.ac.uk or on 0208 203 6427 Ext. 204.

IT Support

Any issues with IT access should be directed to either the Academic Office or the Programme Leader in the first instance.

Counselling

Students are advised to contact their Programme Manager who will be able to help students find support and direct them to appropriate services.

Disability support

LSJS is an institution committed to inclusion and to accommodating any student with special access needs, whether they be physical or academic. In the first instance; students are advised to contact their Programme Manager about any special access needs and they will be able to discuss the various solutions available.

If student needs specifically concern access to the LSJS premises and buildings, please contact Mr Paul Gould, Chief Operating Officer paul.gould@lsjs.ac.uk

Financial issues

Students facing financial difficulties, or who wish to have a confidential discussion about their financial situation are advised to speak in the first instance to their Programme Manager who will be able to direct them to the most appropriate support.

Specific financial matters

Students requiring specific advice on practical financial matters, such as payment schedules or student loans, are advised to contact Mr Paul Gould, Chief Operating Officer at LSJS paul.gould@lsjs.ac.uk

Synagogue

The Synagogue is available to all students and members of the LSJS community.

The Synagogue can be accessed at any time during the LSJS opening hours when there is not a class being held in there.

Teaching and Learning Facilities

The Wohl Campus has a variety of conference and lecture rooms. Schaller House and Beit Meir have ample, well-equipped classrooms. All rooms are equipped with good internet connections, power and projectors. Electronic whiteboards are also available in some rooms.
